To whom it may concern:

Intel Tecnología de México SA de CV employed Yael Abelardo Martinez Flores in an internship as Test Development Automation Engineer. Yael worked on data center memory department in the area of test automation where I am manager. His layoff was due to the completion of the internship.

In the time that Yael worked in my team he demonstrates attention to detail, analytics skills, and a high sense of responsibility. He was in charge of leading a conversation with an external vendor in order to understand the technical details of one of our validation ingredients and was able to establish a clear strategy to follow and scope for the coverage. As automation developer Yael also was in charge of the enhancement of a test performance and due to the analysis provided by him the debug and execution team was enabled to take some decisions that improve the turnaround time from 3 weeks to 2 weeks.

If you would like additional information about Yael as an intern in automation development please feel free to contact me by email or phone.

Sincerely,

Edith Calleros Gonzalez
